Woman Claims Self Defense After Fatal Shooting In Lima

Lima, O., July 9.—A domestic quarrel ended in tragedy last evening when Mrs. Evelyn Stowers, 20, shot and killed her husband Thomas, 22, in a rooming house in this city.

"I was only joking honey."

Mrs. Stowers called a physician, who in turn notified police. The officers found the woman seated in the bedroom, where the slaying occurred staring down at the body of her husband.

Mrs. Stowers claims self defense as according to her story, her husband threatened her life and she had taken the pistol from him but a few minutes previously.

UNITED STATES NOT TO BRING PRESSURE TO SEEK CONFERENCE

Embassy Says America Not Worried Over Exchange Of Notes

London, July 9.—The United States wishes to bring no pressure for an immediate conference seeking abolition of extra territorial rights in China.

Nor is the United States worried over the fact that Great Britain and Japan are exchanging notes over policy in China. These were the principal points made in a statement issued at the American embassy today. At the same time, it was understood that William Perkins, representative of the state department at present in London, was satisfied with the British policy and saw no possibility of Great Britain differing with the United States regarding rights of the powers in China.

Perkins refused to talk but his views were understood to be reflected in the amiable statement of the embassy.

The American representations, urging a conference to discuss extra territoriality, as provided in the Washington agreements, have been made through usual diplomatic channels, but no note has been presented, it was stated at the embassy.

The United States is not insisting upon an immediate conference but is willing to wait for a more suitable time, it was stated.

Regarding the British and Japanese exchanges of notes, the American government was said to feel that inasmuch as these nations have been the objects of the Chinese antagonism displayed in the strikes, they are bound to form a common policy.

YOUTH KILLED WHEN ON HUNTING PARTY

Canton, O., July 9.—Alger Reed, 21, residing between Beach City and Wilmet, was accidentally shot and killed last night while hunting groundhogs near Shanesville.

Reed's companion was a man 71 years old. They had chased a groundhog into its hole, separated and waited for the animal to reappear. Reed crept around the field to another location behind a rail fence and hid. The older man saw the top of his head between the rails, mistook it for another groundhog and fired. He used a sporting rifle and the bullet struck Reed squarely in the center of the forehead and passed out the back of his head. Reed was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Reed and was employed at the Brewster shops of the W. & L. E. railroad.

American Flag, said to be America's greatest throw year old, Halpin added, will be entered in the Cincinnati Derby at Coney, July 25.

Latonia generally has at least 1200 horses in its stables, Halpin and his associates hope to have 1,000 at Coney Island within the next two weeks, but the chances look slim indeed for that dream to come true.

Someone at Coney Island was snoring loudly when an agent for Hawthorne solicited hundreds of horses for the Chicago track which should have gone to the new place.

They were sentenced to death for alleged plotting against the lives of high soviet officials. In refusing the German demands the soviet declared the ultimatum was an interference in Russia's internal affairs. It was learned that Ambassador Brockdorff not only requested a stay of sentence for the convicted students but in the name of the German government demanded of Foreign Minister Tchitcherine that the death sentences be quashed.

DEFENSE ATTORNEYS OUTLINE PROGRAM TO RESIST ATTACKERS

Hundreds Pouring Into Dayton as Time For Trial Nears

Dayton, Tenn., July 9.—The "legal battle of the century" with its epochal effect upon Christianity, science and public education, will be fought out on constitutional grounds, under a defense program completed today by local counsel for John Thomas Scopes, defendant in Tennessee anti-evolution test case.

As strong legal re-inforcements are rushing here from the north a final touch will be given the battle plan after the arrival this afternoon of Clarence Darrow, Dudley Field Malone and Arthur Garfield Hayes, the associated counsel.

Its heavy artillery, however, will attack the law as unconstitutional on the ground that it fails to "cherish science" and denies the "freedom of thought, worship and conscience" as guaranteed in the state and federal constitutions.

In its present form, the plan includes three steps:

1—A motion to quash the indictment of Scopes on constitutional grounds.
2—A trial defense on the contention that evolution does not conflict with the divine creation of man, thus nullifying the law, and
3—An appeal through the state supreme court to the United States supreme court on constitutional grounds if the motion is denied or Scopes convicted by a jury.

While the defense waited for its re-inforcements, Dayton was agog with excitement. The eve of the trial found hundreds of visitors pouring into the tiny mountain town with newspapermen and photographers in the van. All industry virtually was suspended except the feverish activity to complete preparations for the trial.

The prosecution, headed by William Jennings Bryan, marked time, awaiting the call to the arena. They announced their willingness to meet the defenders of Scopes on constitutional grounds but asserted the case involved a broader issue of defending Christianity against the assaults of science. The first defense move, a motion to quash the indictment, it was learned, will be based entirely on constitutional questions.

The motion, already drawn by local counsel, alleges the law has violated six distinct sections of the Tennessee constitution and three amendments to the federal constitution. A technical error in the law also has been attacked. This slip, which refers to "the theory of evolution," in the title and to "any theory of evolution" in the context, it is contended, violates the state constitutional provision that "no bill shall become a law which embraces more than one subject to be expressed in the title."

The "big guns" in the defense artillery will be allegations that the law also violates the following provisions of the Tennessee constitution. Section 12, article 2: "It shall be the duty of the general assembly in all future periods of this government, to cherish literature and science."

2—Section 3, article 1: "The men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own conscience—that no human authority can in any case whatever control or interfere with the rights of conscience and that no preference shall ever be given by law to any religious establishment or mode of worship."

3—Section 19, article 1: The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty."

4—Section 8, article 1: No man shall be dispossessed of his free holds, liberties or privileges or in any manner destroyed, of his property, but by the judgment of his peers and the law of the land (involving the disbarment of Scopes as a teacher.)

The other state constitutional questions raised, involve charges that both the law and Scopes' indictment were "so indefinite as not to enable the defendant to know what is forbidden."

One whole section of the motion deals with this subject. Three charges of violations of the federal constitution were written into the motion. These involved the fifth and sixth amendments and the first section of the fourteenth amendment.

If their motion is defeated and Scopes convicted, two distinct appeals will be carried clear to the nation's highest court on these same constitutional grounds. They form the actual legal battle ground of the anti evolution case.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture
BERNARR MACFADDEN

The first instinct of a child is to move—kick out his feet, and move his body and arms; at first feebly, but from day to day more vigorously. And this is how the tiny mite of humanity takes his first exercise and grows and thrives, according to the natural law of his being. For the first few years he is constantly running, jumping, kicking, yelling—he is the very embodiment of motion. When he reaches youth he takes more vigorous exercise, as suitable to his growing years and increased strength and vitality. During childhood and youth sports and games are dominant in his thoughts and usually his ideal is some famous athlete or strong man whom he could emulate. Youth takes to its sports and exercises instinctively and has in all ages, courage, loyalty, self-sacrifice are inherent qualities of boyhood and youth, and these should be cultivated and maintained by practicing many sports. The keen competition in grammar school, high school and college life does much to develop the youth in all those qualities that go to make the virile young man. The rivalry and competitiveness in play exercises—those exercises in which the mind takes as full a part as the body, such as running, jumping, swimming, shooting, basketball, baseball, football, hockey, boxing, wrestling, fencing, riding, rowing, bowling and the countless other light and strenuous exercises at the command of the modern youth—create self-confidence and reliance in his strength and ability to take care of himself and these qualities are essential for a successful life. To those boys who have this opportunity for exercise I have nothing to say, except to caution them against overdevelopment. During these years of exercise Nature has done her part toward enabling the boy to grow to manhood with the developed body and mind of man, by implanting in him this instinct for play, an instinct which is stronger than any other in childhood and youth.

But after youth come the years of study for a profession, or, it may be, a life of work in a factory or office, and gradually sports and games that were once the chief pleasure in life become "work" and are slowly forgotten.

Glad He Picked This Good Stomach Remedy

Puts Stomach in Fine Condition—Ends Dizzy Spells, Catarrh and Makes You Sleep Well.

Indigestion, gas, heartburn, heaviness and sour stomach—sometimes the distended stomach causes that dreadful feeling of near suffocation. Isn't it worth something to know of a remedy that will stop this distress in a few minutes—quicker than anything else you can think of.

This is no common stomach remedy for it took years of time to combine Pepsin with the other effective agents that make Dare's Menth-Pepsin so good that the worst cases of indigestion and gastritis and other chronic stomach ailments are speedily overcome and the most deranged stomachs are made clean, strong and healthy.

Mr. Calvin Dilks, of Alloway, N. J., a man of few words, knows this for he writes: "I entirely rid myself of an old catarrhal condition of the stomach with Dare's Menth-Pepsin." No matter what your stomach trouble is get a bottle today at Sohn's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere with the distinct understanding that if it doesn't do you the world of good your money will be returned. adv

Automobile Insurance Is A Paying Investment

G. Etrich Quick once read about how $100 invested in Ford Motors, Standard Oil, or some mine grew into many thousands.

He was always hoping to make a similar profitable investment.

But when a Travelers agent suggested that he invest about $50 in an automobile insurance policy it left him cold.

"What do I get out of it?" he asked.

Six months later he paid a $5,000 damage claim out of his own pocket.

As usual, G. Etrich missed his big opportunity. Had he invested in the Travelers policy, each dollar he paid in premiums would have saved him a hundred.

DIMMING.

MICHIGAN has passed a new anti-bright law to regulate automobile illumination, blamed for many accidents and cause of much "cussing" on the part of motorists.

Which recalls that the question of auto lights has been more or less an unsettled subject in Ohio. Use of dimmers is a process of law supposedly but is actually a problem of education.

While motorists were becoming educated to dimming their headlights at the approach of another auto, the state legislature passed a law requiring all automobiles to be equipped with certain types of headlights lenses supposed designed to permanently deflect the light from the eyes of the approaching motorist.

Manufacturers of lenses, approved by the legislature, thus came upon a harvest for a time. The saddest commentary on the lens law was the fact that a strip of paint across the upper half of a plain glass lens would suffice as well as certain approved lenses retailing at $6.50 a pair.

Now then, with the program of dimming education interrupted, Ohio is attempting again to educate the motoring public to use the dimmers. The situation results in something like this: The motorist dims his lights at the approach of another machine. The driver of the approaching machine, however, leaves his bright lights on. The first driver then becomes disgusted and fails to dim at the approach of the next auto he encounters.

The second approaching autoist dims his lights, is answered by the bright glare, and also resolves not to use his dimmers for the next auto he approaches. As a result neither one of them dims the rest of the evening, making converts to their new policy as they proceed along the highway.

EARTHQUAKE.

THE momentum that will be gathered by the various agencies to rebuild Santa Barbara, Cal., lowered by an earthquake, will probably carry that city to greater heights than it has yet reached.

Great disaster, or a great tragedy, often works that way. It unites individuals in a common bond of sympathy, whether it be the common grief over the death of a relative which responds to sympathetic overtures, or the impulse to rebuild, that comes to a city of people following a great disturbance.

A city, though split and torn by dissension over many matters, will unite in its own defense to rehabilitation after the lightning has struck. And often this enthusiasm is so genuine, that the movement carries over and beyond its goal and the people find they have built better than they knew.

Such a case is Dayton, once ravaged by a flood that likewise taught its citizens that the possibilities of their accomplishments were unlimited after they had co-operated in concentration upon a common cause.

So Santa Barbara, gathering momentum for rehabilitation as the pendulum swings back from the shock that came in the wake of the tremor, will no doubt rebuild upon greater lines than ever. Thus the quake itself, bringing terror, death and destruction, will come to be looked upon as the cause of a greater city.

It is interesting to note further that a scientist points out that these quakes are good because they help the earth to "let off steam," as it were. He declares that unless there were many earthquakes of these or lesser dimensions annually, the entire earth's surface might be involved in a shifting that would destroy everything man built.

Thus seismographs indicate 5,000 quakes annually, and it is said that if there were instruments in the less populated parts of the earth, they would probably show there are actually from 15,000 to 20,000 quakes annually.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

THE HOME-MAKER
I have come down the way and little learned
Save that mankind at heart is much the same.
Seeking forever wealth or place or fame,
Yet from the path by strange mischances turned.
A mood, a whim, a love perhaps that's spurned
And he who had been good is red with shame.
Hate, anger, malice fan a spark to flame
And suddenly a life lies charred and burned
And what was virtue wears a baser name.

They who are wisest guard themselves with care
And set a vigil on the home they keep.
Plant love and laughter and contentment there
And let no storm of rage its rafters sweep.
Courage they have to keep its windows fair,
Holding it safe, ere in the dark they leap.

"What sort of fancywork articles can I make at home, to sell through gift shops and woman's exchanges?"

This question comes in to me from Housekeeper Readers many times a month. My answer is: the thing that sells is either the useful article which women need; or else some little fad-of-the-moment which women want.

The following articles come under one of these two heads.

"Boutonnieres": This French word for buttonhole bouquet, is the name now commonly used for the popular bunch of imitation flowers (or single imitation flower) which women are wearing at the present moment. The woman who is clever at making wool flowers should have no trouble making money. Or she may make tiny pom-poms (exactly as she would make "balls" for the decoration for a skating cap or baby's sash), by winding yarn around a card, tying it in the middle and cutting the loop ends. These little pom-poms are used, grouped—generally three together, of different colors—as if they were flowers backed by two green crocheted wool "leaves" and a wool-wire stem.

Brown-Bead Chokers: Just try to buy a made bead chain—either a choker or a long chain—in the different shade of brown, in a store! You will find it most difficult, especially in dark brown. Yet brown wood beads can be bought "loose" and strung by the clever woman with a few gold beads or amber-colored beads, with most artistic results. Now, especially, when brown is such a popular color for suits and dresses, these "different" chains should sell.

The Garter Purse: This is a most useful article. Almost every well-groomed woman today is wearing the fancy ribbon-garter just below the knee, in addition to the hip-garters, to keep the stockings from twisting so that the seam is crooked instead of neatly straight. But the latest thing, in making a pair of these garters, is to attach a small silk snap-purse, shaped like a tiny envelope, to one of the garters. A bit of silk ribbon may be used to make this purse.

The Still-Popular Envelope Bag: The underarm purse or bag has survived many months of popularity. It is still with us, made in black moire and decorated on the flap with an oval piece of crew-work, or made of blue with the entire flap covered with tapestry. Again some of these bags have beaded flaps. They are the easiest thing in the world to make.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

Today's Talks

GREY, BEAUTIFUL EYES

They say that the eyes are the windows to the soul. Sometimes I feel that they are the soul.

It seems so wonderful that there should have been so many different kinds of colors to eyes. Each has a meaning and fulness all its own.

The black liquid eyes so often charging fire. The blue, trusting eyes full of poetry. The green, shifting eyes. But above all the grey, beautiful eyes, so honest—so often found as the windows into the heart of a thoroughbred.

All these colors are lovable according to the owner, but there has always been something different about grey eyes to me. They are very warm and usually silent, talking only in the changing lights of a glance.

They are spiritual eyes, intelligent and keen, and their passion is that of the rose as it floats its perfume in beauty to all who may pass and admire.

Before I choose my friend I want to feel his eyes and then I want to grip his hand. The rest need not matter much. I will take chances from there on.

Nerves All Unstrung?

Xenia Folks Should Find the Cause and Correct It.

Are you all worn out? Feel tired, nervous, half-sick? Do you have a constant headache, sharp twinges of pain, too, with dizzy spells and annoying urinary disorders? Then there's cause for worry and more cause to give your weakened kidneys prompt help. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Xenia folks recommend Doan's for just such troubles. Mrs. Woodrow C. Warner, 225 E. Third St., Xenia, says: "When I stooped, I got sharp stabs of pain through my back and my back often felt so cramped. I could hardly move at times. Mornings my back and shoulders felt as stiff as a board. I was tired and weak and became dizzy. I also had severe nervous spells. My kidneys acted irregularly also. Doan's Pills relieved the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Warner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

I can see drama, poetry, hidden history and noble aspiration in grey, beautiful eyes.
These are the eyes of dreamers and doers. A large part of this world has been planned out under the patient tending of grey eyes. How often they have been the eyes of a wonderful mother.
Grey eyes find so much. They look so deep. They are the discoverers of eternal loveliness.
You don't have to explain to grey eyes.
Their sympathy is like the running water from the spring, cleansing and sparkling in the sunlight.
You should never be cross to grey eyes. They were created for kindness.

WOMEN BORN 1873 TO 1885

Now Is the Critical Time! Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will Help You Safely Through

Convo, Ohio.—"During the Change of Life I was weak and run-down and could hardly do my work. By reading your advertisements I found out about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has straightened me right out and made me feel like a new woman. By the time I had taken eight bottles I was well and could do my housework on the farm without trouble. I recommended it to my daughter-in-law after her second baby was born and it did her a wonderful lot of good. I told her to try it and if it didn't help her I would pay for it, and before she had taken one bottle she said to me, 'You won't have to pay for it! It is helping me wonderfully!' And she took three bottles of it. You can use my testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. ELSIE ACKERMAN, Convo, Ohio.

Consider carefully Mrs. Ackerman's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She tells of the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

for the HUDSON COACH

Throughout Hudson's long-time policy of giving greatest value for the money, this is the lowest price, the finest Hudson, the greatest value Hudson ever offered. Only Hudson's exclusive advantages of the famous patented Super-Six principle, combined with the world's largest production of 6-cylinder cars make it possible. By greater margins than ever before it is today the "World's Greatest Buy."

The Great and Genuine Economy Its Owners Know

The good-will and satisfaction so evident throughout Hudson's enormous ownership results simply from the conviction of hundreds of thousands of individuals that they have the "World's Greatest Buy." The economy Hudson owners praise is not only in the big saving of first cost; they know, also, the greatest of all operating economies—faultless service for months on end with rarely any need whatever for attention and at a minimum expense for service.

LEARN CONVICTED BOOTLEGGER GAVE FICTITIOUS NAME

It was revealed Wednesday, the real name of "John Collins" of Dayton, who was committed to the Dayton Workhouse by Judge E. D. Smith in Police Court for illegal possession and transportation of liquor, is J. P. Mulliman. He gave police the fictitious name when arrested.

Xenia police were so notified when a Buick touring automobile confiscated from "Collins" by local authorities, was claimed by a representative of a Dayton finance firm, which company holds a mortgage on the machine.

A demand was later made for the car by Thelma Grant, of Dayton, arrested with Mulliman when police confiscated twenty gallons of liquor hidden in the car. The Dayton girl made a special trip to Xenia, after being released, to place her claim.

She gave police a "piece of her mind," when told the car was in the possession of the Dayton firm, claiming ownership of two of the tires.

LAST OF GENNAS IS HIDDEN BY POLICE TO ESCAPE GUNMEN

Chicago, July 9.—A frightened man today is hiding under the protection of a police guard and law enforcement officials see an end to Chicago's most dramatic and sensational underworld feud—the feud that started eight months ago, when Dean O'Bannon was shot to death in his flower shop.

For the man from whose trembling lips came the plea for help from gangland's bitterest enemies, the police, is Sam Genna, whose brother Tony has answered the summons to face gangster's gun. A month ago his brother Mike, known as "the killer" was shot down and killed by Sergeant William Sweeney after two policemen had been killed.

"They're going to get all of us Gennas," said Sam Genna. "And I'm next. I know. I've been told. I was told that Tony would get it. So was he. They said they'd get all of us."

As a result of his plea, police are guarding the members of the Genna family. They are also searching for two members of the O'Bannon gang, to question them regarding the killing of Tony Genna.

FIVE COUNTIES TO HALT SUNDAY DANCES

Five probate judges in counties in the Miami Valley have announced they will exercise their authority to prohibit Sunday public dancing in their counties by refusing to issue permits, under the Algie-Van Wyre law, which becomes effective Friday. Included in the number, is Judge S. C. Wright, of Greene County, who is opposed to Sunday dancing, but will permit the play dancing if dance hall regulations are complied with.

Other probate judges expressing similar views are Judge Raymond A. Kerr of Miami County; Judge Byron A. Landis, of Preble County; Judge Harry D. Miles, of Dark County, and Judge Gideon Palmer of Butler County.

On the return trip they spent some time in New York and Washington, D. C. While in New York they visited Mr. Will Harner and family and Miss Aletha Harner of Brooklyn former Xenians. While in Washington they were with the Misses Mae Stevenson and Gladys McClellan, also from Xenia.

AMERICANS "ROUGH, RUDE UNREFINED" SAYS JAP TRAVELER

TOKYO, July 8.—Americans are "rough, rude and unrefined," but they are "Heaven's favored children" just the same and not such a bad lot as some critics have painted them.

This, at least, is the opinion of Minoru Maeda, a Japanese traveler recently returned from the United States. He writes his impressions of Americans in the Chuo Koron (Central Review), a leading Japanese magazine.

"There territory is immense and their natural resources boundless," Maeda writes. "This wealth repays their labor and toil more than is really due. This remark does not, I hope, belittle their sacrifices. They saw that their efforts to conquer arduous environment and combat inclement nature were not futile. This realization greatly encouraged them to further exertion. They gained self conviction. Their success deeply impressed them with the truth that strenuous efforts would be duly repaid."

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

RICE TURBAN WITH CHERRIES

Paris—For a good cherry dish try a turban of rice with the fruit. Cook two-fifths pound of rice with milk and a small stick of vanilla. When it is thoroughly cooked add one-fourth pound of sugar and the yolks of two eggs. Keep over the fire, stirring well until it is thick and compact. Arrange the rice then in a wreath on a large round platter and pour in the center a compote of cherries, with the juice a little thick. Put little lumps of currant jelly on the rice and serve warm.

YEGGS GET CASH

Dayton, O., July 9.—Thieves gained entrance to the Dayton Furnace Company plant Wednesday night by breaking the glass on a rear door and escaped with $800 cash. The yeggs hammered the combination of the fire-proof safe, threw the tumblers and knocked it open with a file. According to detectives, the job was the work of amateurs.

The Union Church circuit will hold a basket picnic Friday. Speeches and music will feature the afternoon, which is to be a get-together of the four charges on the circuit. The affair will be held at the Richland School lawn.

The Mysterious Hundred Dollars!

Jim Jones is a farmer who owes us $100 on a note. He's got 10,000 pounds of hog meat on the hoof and he figures to pay that $100 soon as he sells his hogs.

The day comes when he sees the price of hogs $18.25 and he hikes for market with a song in his heart! When he gets there he finds the price of hogs has slithered, skidded and bumped down to $12.25.

HE'S LOST JUST ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS!

Now here's what happens: WE don't get OUR $100.

The farmer LOSES HIS $100.

BOTH OF US pay EXACTLY the same price as before for our evening pork roast, bacon and chops!

Jones is out $100, we're out ours and NEITHER of us have the least idea where it's gone or what it's all about!

If there's a moral or a point to this—lemme have it. WHERE DOES THE $100 GO?

JACK WILLET

Binder Twine $7.50 Bale.

Weighs about 50 lbs. Is the McCormick Deering breed of twine that's grass-hopper and cricket proof, won't collapse in the box, and the last string goes out as sweetly as the first.

Cut 'em. We've got scythes and sheaths complete for $8.65 which applied to July and August weeds insures you against the weeds' reappearance NEXT year.

Too Busy To Talk

I've done everything possible to pin Harry and Verne down somewhere back of a counter long enuf to squeeze out a few kind words about the Studebaker, Overland and Knight cars they're so immersed in. Up to yet I've caught only a glimpse of their dust

From gossip around back I understand both Harry and Verne have given up regular eating and sleeping hours owing to the influx of customers for these sort of cars.

Jack reports that every morning they come bustin' into the Cash Department and for an hour they do nothing but shed money, notes, contracts and sweat! Then out they go and repeat the same performance next morning.

Sorry they couldn't appear this week.

MACK.

Cow Ease For Contented Milk

A cow leads a tuff enuf life as it is without being obligated to hand down contented milk while fighting 4,985,987.00 flies! A spurt of Cow Ease spray brings the blush of pure joy to a cow's cheek and pays for itself in the increased amount of milk you get. Its $1.50 a gallon—nuff for a long, long time.

Thermic Bottle

The $2.50 sort is the most popular—holds a gallon of anything that COMES in gallons and keeps it 24 hours at the temperature it entered. The $3.50 sort has a wider mouth and is used freely by those who like to take HOT FRIED chicken out on their picnic jaunts. Buy a couple.

the two of 'em—strong hardboiled men sobbing on each other's shoulder blades! Even Mack and Beal drift in and perspire a little—outta sympathy more than anything else.

I'll bite—WHO HAS got the $100?

P. S.—Mebbe Verne and Harry got an idea—they're busy on autos and they're more or less up on the habits of $100 bills.

SOCIETY SCANDALS STIR ENGLAND TO SERIOUS THINKING

London, July 8.—England is engaged in introspection—and seriously engaged.

Recent society scandals divulged in the courts, and the production of no less than three plays aimed at immorality in high society, have led to a general public consideration of the state of society.

Ramsay MacDonald has attacked the idle rich, and his attack has been supported by Canon Donaldson, of Westminster Abbey, Bishop Weldon, of Durham and others.

Justice McCardie and Justice Shearman, speaking from the bench, have stated that the society scandals as presented in court, are not representative of English society.

Arnold Bennett has replied to these two judges as follows:

"There is a fairly continuous procession of such cases in the law courts. Either they are a dream, and parties, witnesses, counsel and judges are merely phantoms or they represent certain phenomena of English social and family life.

"Whether these phenomena are increasing or not is an arguable question but one may reasonably assume that such of them as reach the law courts constitute less than 1 per cent of all the similar phenomena actually existing among us today. Only the world-notorious hypocrisy of the Anglo Saxon would pretend that the spectacle provided by the law courts is entirely unrepresentative."

As Bennett has been decidedly frank in attacking the "phenomena" of society, so there have been numerous defenders of modern society. Those newspapers which circulate among the so-called "better people" have been vigorous in their defence of society. On the other hand, however, such newspapers as the Daily Herald and Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express have been frank in their condemnation.

"Another Dennistoun case would produce a revolt of popular rage which might terrify our lawyers into setting their house in order," said the Daily Express. "After all, the public which pays for the elaborate machinery of the law has a right to criticize its operation. The public may reasonably ask why a miserably squalid dispute of this kind should have been allowed to become an expensive orgy of scandal and venom spreading over weeks."

Clergymen and public speakers are aroused. Attacks on sex plays are being made on every hand.

ELECTRIFIES TOWN SO MOTHER MAY HAVE HOME CONVENIENCES

Syracuse, N. Y. July 8.—Electrifying an entire village to give his mother the comforts of a modern home Owen D. Young, co-worker with Vice-President Dawes on the Reparations Commission, is today waving a magic wand over the little hamlet of Van Hornesville, where a metropolitan lighting system is his last feat. And to make his gift more impressive, the post of light keeper is intrusted to Mrs. Ida Young, mother of the donor who floods her native town with light at sundown and shuts off the power promptly at 10 p. m. except on special occasions.

Desiring his mother to have all the comforts of life, Young strung power lines from St. Johnsville, twenty miles distant, to his home town, remodeled his mother's house wired it and outfitted it with modern fixtures.

Street lights were erected, and a switch, controlling them, was placed in his mother's cellar. The lights match the quaint atmosphere of the hamlet, mounted on wooden posts, they look like the old gas lamps which were used for street illumination before the adoption of electricity. The habits of a lifetime of thrift are hard to break, however, and villagers note that the lights are missing on quiet evenings, when there is no village affair to take Mrs. Young's neighbors from their homes. When Owen comes back on a visit, however, the lights burn bright and long in honor of his presence.

There is no criticism of the lack of light which turns Van Hornesville's one street into a gay white way. The villagers think highly of the son who is responsible for the employment of half the population. "Owen says to keep the lights burning every night, but it would cost a lot of money, and I don't think he can afford it," Mrs. Young said. "I guess it's up to me to do the saving for the rest of the family."

Rated a millionaire, world famous and the head of one of the country's greatest industries, Young is still "one of the boys," when he gets back to Van Hornesville for a visit. He dons rubber boots, a shabby old coat and a disreputable felt hat and goes over his stock farm of 100 thoroughbred Holsteins, chats pleasantly and encouragingly with his hired help and takes a personal interest in their welfare.

Here are a few things he has done for Van Hornesville. In addition to supplying it with electricity: He built a beautiful vault in the village cemetery, put a force of men to work among the graves and in a short time made the cemetery a scene of sacred beauty rather than a neglected graveyard. He purchased a farm, tore down an ugly barn and transformed the site into an attractive little park. A dam erected to give power to a grist mill, had degenerated into a mud hole, and Young spent several thousand dollars creating an artificial lake there and establishing on its shores a playground for the school children, with toboggan slides, swings and other apparatus. Old tumble-down farmhouses were bought up by him, remodeled and rebuilt into attractive homes for his employees. Thousands of trees have been planted under his supervision on the sides of the hills which surround the town. A reservoir, built with his money gives the little town a pressure water system. Rustic benches and bridges built under his direction, improve its appearance. Cement walks have replaced the cinder paths, and numerous flower beds have replaced unsightly brush along the roadside.

In an old barn, relic of pioneer days, he has established a museum where many of the early agricultural implements used by the first settlers make up an attractive display.

THE GUMPS—THE BUSINESS MAN

FARMERS WEAR GOGGLES BECAUSE OF DUST IN JEFFERSON TWP; SAYS UNCLE JOHN

Editor Gazette and Republican:

I noticed in the Gazette a few days ago that the farmers of Greene County wuz complainin bout havin too much rain. Now I don't know if it wuz the County Agent that wrote it or not but if it wuz he shure ain't been in the southeastern part of the county specially in Jefferson Township as we have not hardly had enuf rain at any time since the corn wuz planted to stop workin the ground an while in part of the county the farmers could not cultivate there corn for the wet wether. In these parts they could hardly plow for the dust an had to wear goggles an dust masks, an the wether has been so hot the farmers have to milk there cows three times a day to keep the milk from sourin before it wuz milked, an some had to soak there hogs to make them hold slop.

The honey season is bout over unless it gets cooler for the bees have quit workin only a little while in the mornin as the sun scorches there wings and they can't git back to there homes.

They say it is, an ill wind that blows no one any good, as the farmers have not had to spray there taters fur the bugs, fur the heat has made them all go blind an fall off the vines.

My wife Bettie sez at the Ladies Aid tother day that most the women sez that they wuz bout worn out carryin water fur there flours an garden an one of lady said that she believed the reason that we had not got our share of rain wuz because some of the members hadn't payed up the preacher an she moved that they send the stewards of the church aroun to see them that had not payed up. When they come to my house my wife Bettie sez now John give em a little extrie and spoke somethin bout castin yur bread on the waters an in a few days it would return unto you, an that the Lord loved a cheerful giver. So I give em fifteen cents extrie and went to bed feelin I had done my duty an dreamed of the new Jerusalem. An when I went out nex mornin to milk I found our ol spotted cow had founded twins. I tol Bettie at the breakfast table that I wished I had given the preacher thirty cents extrie insted of fifteen cents. She sez now John thats just like you always wantin to over do evrything.

That made me kinda snappy so I got up and went in an turned the radio on to get the markets and to see if they had dried up or not an heard the wether man say somethin bout increased cloudyness tonite an tomorrow an local thunder showers. Well now sez I we need the showers alright but we don't need any more thunder as between the fleas an the flies we have had enuf of that. Well any way we're still lookin fur rain and when it comes I may write and tell you uns about it.

Uncle John.

CLINICS Praised Monthly Report of Red Cross Shows

The July meeting of the executive committee of the Greene County Chapter, American Red Cross, was held in the Court House offices Tuesday.

Reports of the secretary and nurse, Mrs. Sara H. Roberson and Miss Helen Evers, were read, showing work done in the county in June. These reports are not made public in detail due to the private nature of the work.

Mr. Young, state representative of the State Civilian Rehabilitation Bureau, spent one day in the county, going over cases in co-operation with the local organization. He said the management is pleased with the service rendered by the Greene County Chapter and assured the workers that any cases referred by them on which they had made a survey would be passed on favorably by the bureau.

"As a result of the life-saving demonstration held at the Wilson Swimming pool, June 26, by the life-saving corps of the Kenton County Chapter, at Covington, Ky., and the enthusiasm of the candidates, swimmers and the people of Xenia and Greene County we hope to promote the Boy Scout interests, together with all others who desire to become expert swimmers and have in our county a force of organized life-savers," Mrs. Roberson said in her report.

Some interesting cases have been handled by the chapter in the cases of ex-service men and their families where it was necessary for material relief, hospitalization and assistance in many ways which the chapter is able to render and finds necessary.

Miss Evers, Red Cross public health nurse, co-operating with the physicians of the county in the survey of the defects found in the school children, caused operations on eighteen children recently, as follows: Bath Township, four; Beavercreek, one; Cedarville, three; Miami Township, three; Sugarcreek Township, two; and Xenia, five.

In illustration of what this meant to the mother of three children operated, Mrs. Roberson submitted a portion of her letter: "I hear so many mothers speak horrified of having their children operated, but after being through it, I will speak in praise of it, am so grateful it has been done. I tell the children, 'what are a few hours in comparison to the loss of one's health and no end of suffering.' I again wish to thank all who gave their work and untiring attention to the children, and all who took so much interest in them—words can not express my appreciation."

The First Aid Station conducted at the fairgrounds for the Cincinnati Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad employees' picnic, stood in good stead as five patients were cared for. Action was taken by the committee for the arrangements for vacations for the secretary and nurse.

DAUGHTER OF BRYAN WILL BE HEARD BY CHAUTAQUA GOERS

At the time when the nation's eyes are focused on the little town in Tennessee, where William Jennings Bryan, using his own words, "is going to settle this monkey business," the people of Xenia will be particularly interested to hear Mr. Bryan's daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, lecture at the Redpath Chautauqua tent, Wednesday evening of next week.

The people of the community cannot afford to miss the assembly this year on the Flynn lots, on North Detroit Street. Three of the numbers alone, "Faust," "Not So Fast," and "So

MAD CHASE ENDS

One hundred Xenia children tore madly toward the Flynn addition, Thursday morning, when released for the Chautauqua ticket hunt.

The lucky finders of the Junior season tickets are: John Hornick, Betty Baldner, Willa Holmes and John Wilke.

This "Is London," cost $1.00 each. For the nominal sum of $2.50 a season ticket can be obtained, admitting one to the entire week's entertainment.

Tickets are on sale downtown at the following places: L. S. Barnes, Green Street; D. D. Jones Drug Store, East Main Street; Geyer Book Store, South Detroit Street and Mrs. Clara Reutinger's office, South Detroit St. Chautauqua opens next Sunday afternoon, July 12, at 3 o'clock. Evening program at 8 o'clock, Junior Chautauqua for the children on mornings at 9 o'clock and afternoon program at 3:30 o'clock.

Fred Fuller will be the superintendent this year and Miss Doris Standish will again have charge of the Junior Chautauqua. They will arrive Friday or Saturday.

GAS BUGGIES-It's Different When Somebody Else Does It

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY"

BY MACK SAUER

A few jottings of the day by Samuel Pepys Jr.: This day my wife, poor wretch, put on her new silk gown, which is cut short at the sleeves, as the fashion lately is, in which she was very charming. So walked with her to work and I being in overalls and blue shirt, we did not make a great show.

In the morning came company from Cedarville, it being an old enemy I knew in war days, and the third time we have had company since coming to Xenia, the other times being when my landlord came to collect the rent and when an insurance agent called to try to sell me a policy. To the hospital on the hill on visit a friend lately cut from his tonsils, and found him quite happy and able to be about though longing to be back to his labors. Left him a bunch of flowers and met a nurse who takes care of him, so in my opinion it is not so terrible after all to be in the hospital and left humming a tune about "I Don't Want to Get Well."

Made plans to go to Lakeside Park, Dayton, Sunday which is one of the finest amusement places I know. Got from Pete Shagin, the motor cop, a promise to let me ride his motorcycle some time, though have visions of how I will break my neck almost, so awkward am I, not having ridden one of these five years nearly.

To a meeting of the Gazette employees, the publisher speaking on "Nuisances Around a Newspaper Office" a large number being present. Home where played some tunes on my talking machine with the tin horn, liking especially "The Preacher and the Bear."

RAIG WINS OVER DYER IN INITIAL FLIGHT OF TOURNEY

W. Crawford Craig defeated Art Dyer in the final round to be declared winner of the first flight in the championship golf tourney begun yesterday by golfers of the Xenia Country Club. Craig shot in his best form to win from one of the best amateur golfers in Xenia.

The second flight was won by Chalmers Murphy from E. R. Bryant Sunday one up in twenty holes after one of the hardest battles in the elimination series. Murphy and Bryant were finalists in the second flight. The score was knotted at the completion of the regulation eighteen holes of play and two additional holes were necessary to decide a winner.

The third flight has not been finished, it is announced.

FIFTEEN ANSWER CALL FOR GRIDMEN

Fifteen recruits answered Athletic Instructor Victor Kolb's second call for candidates for the 1925 Central High School eleven at a meeting at the school Wednesday night.

Coach Kolb was pleased with the turnout and entertains high hopes for a winning grid machine this year.

The mentor predicts this year's eleven will be light but believes it will make up in speed what it may lack in weight.

Many new candidates as well as veterans of last year's team answered the call and the new mentor hopes to fill up many gaps left by graduation with new material.

The meeting was called to give the new coach an opportunity to become better acquainted with his prospective charges and other meetings will be held from time to time, it is announced.

Plans were also discussed relative to the two-weeks training camp on the John Bryan farm near Yellow Springs.

YELLOW SPRINGS TO PLAY COLLEGIANS

The Yellow Springs baseball nine will tackle Harshman's Medway Collegians Sunday afternoon at Harshman in what promises to be one of the best games of the season. The Greene County nine has set a fast pace on the diamond again this season and expects to add Harshman to its long list of victims.

The Collegians played their first game for Harshman last Sunday and turned in a victory. Sherman, who held Troy to one lone hit, will probably pitch Sunday for the Collegians.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER 90.
Michael answered the question at length: "Yes, only one, our housekeeper, a Mrs. Sally Warbe, an Irishwoman, ever has occasion to enter the room. Even she did not know of the bequest. My wife and myself, and our lawyer, Thurber, were the only ones who knew of it."

Mother Pharely stared even more electrically.
Sally Warbe—the name didn't sound very Hibernian to Detective Dennis.
"As for the housekeeper," Michael continued, "She has been in the house for 15 years, and I trust her implicitly. I'll vouch for her."

Detective Dennis and his colleague maintained their skeptical composure. The latter spoke his thoughts.
"People are always calling on the force to find things for them that they haven't lost. They put things places and then forget them."

"I thought of that," Michael admitted, "and I searched the entire house."
Detective Dennis inspected the windows. "Nobody could get into this room without coming from another." His colleague looked over the situation, viewed the remoteness of the windows from anything that might be climbed, and concurred. Their deductions advanced thus far, they inspected other windows on that floor.

"Haven't missed anything else have you?"

"No."
Detective Dennis made some notations in a huge notebook.
"Find out the numbers of them bonds as soon as you can, and let us know. My name is Dennis."

With that the detective departed.

"Now don't ask me about it now

Mother," Lilah announced, "I'm tired and I don't want to talk about it."

Mother Pharely, feeling rebuked, turned to Michael. He grabbed his hat and coat.
"If the office calls me, tell them I'll be there in about an hour. I'm going down to the broker's to see if I can get the numbers of the bonds from the record of sale." He kissed Lilah disinterestedly, and departed, smiling in spite of himself at the thought of the cross-examination she must undergo.

He was returning from lunch when, on the spur of the moment, he bought a noon edition of an afternoon paper, and scanned it. And his eyes had not been on the paper more than one minute when he saw his own name. There it was, under a heading.

ROBBERY BARES

UNIQUE BEQUEST
A fierce anger came over him. Damn! Why didn't the damn detectives keep their mouths shut. Of course they'd tell the reporters.

He went back to the office fuming and found that Lilah had been calling him.
"Oh, Michael," she said, excited, when he phoned her. "I wish you'd come home. The detectives have been here questioning Sally, and she's nearly scared to death. And there's a reporter here."

"All right, dear."
He was glad to have an excuse to go home. He guessed that the whole office would be talking about him before night. The name of Menlow made the story a good one for the newspapers.
"Damn!" With that he slammed down his desk top and strode out.

XENIA GOLFERS TO PLAY MIDDLETOWN

Golfers of the Xenia Country Club will play a return inter-city match with the Middletown Country Club at Middletown next Wednesday afternoon, it is announced by Chalmers Murphy, chairman of the tournament committee.

Twenty-six Xenia golfers will make the trip and be paired in match play over eighteen holes with a like number of players. The Middletown match will be Xenia's third of the season.

Earlier in the season Xenia handed Middletown an overwhelming walloping over the local course, but handicapped by strange links the result of the coming match is expected to be close.

TILTONS WILL PLAY LEAGUE LEADERS

The leading R. A. Kelly nine will play the Tilton's "33" team, the "dark horse" of the league, in an Industrial League game Friday night at Washington Park.

After being repeatedly shoved down the ladder, the Tiltons have taken a brace and every week look like the logical team in the league to give the Kellys a hard race for the bunting.

The Tiltons have been re-enforced by the addition of several new players and a win from the Kellys Friday would lighten the race.

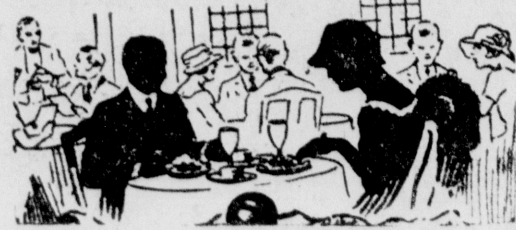

The Kellys have dropped but two games in the league to date and have not yet been defeated by the Tiltons. The Pennsylvania Railroad nine and Hooven and Allison Company team hold victories over the league leaders.

New Treatment For Varicose or Swollen Veins

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at Sayre & Hemphill's, or Sohn's Drug Store and start to reduce the veins and bunched at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil: it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal. It is guaranteed.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that enlarged glands, wens and even goitre disappear when used steadily.
